We all talk about leaving a beautiful planet for our children....

Do we think of leaving beautiful children for this planet....!

Dear Parents and every grown-up person out there what are the focus of elders towards children is!

Bests of marks, a good job with a handsome salary, a good house and so on....

What about the ethics and values...in our race to see our children excel in everything that they do somewhere we are depriving them of the innocence, childhood memories. We want our children to be super humans rather than happy individuals. No matter how successful one gets but money can never buy natural happiness and genuine friends or relations.

Of course, success is crucial and important but it's not the criteria for judgment. Let's not make our children the status symbol of our desires and wishes. They are such unique individuals full of innate qualities and Caliber that once we start trusting them and guiding them on the basis of their emotional, physical, mental capabilities these very children will not only be successful but also be happy citizens of tomorrow. And they will live no stone unturned to make this world a beautiful place to live in.

PGT (Social Studies)

I want to take a moment to express with some words of encouragement and inspiration. Each one of our students possesses unique talents, abilities, and potential that, when nurtured and developed, can lead to remarkable accomplishments. Moreover, don't be afraid to make mistakes. Learning is a life-long process and making errors is an essential part of the progress. Be patient and keep focus on your goal and we also create a positive and inclusive learning environment in the classrooms.

I feel that schools are the second home for the children and that is why our Shanti International School has taken a vow that we take care of the all-round development of the students. In our school, students are given a democratic environment, so that student openly put their likes, dislikes and doubts in front of their class teacher. At Shanti International School, we value not only academic excellence but also character development. Kindness, empathy, respect, and integrity are the cornerstones of our school's ethos. Treat your fellow students and teachers with respect and understanding. Embrace diversity and celebrate each other's unique qualities. Be a good friend, lend a helping hand, and spread positivity wherever you go. Lastly, I want to remind you to take care of yourselves. Get enough rest, eat healthy meals, and engage in regular exercise. Reach out to your teachers, parents, or counsellors if you ever feel overwhelmed or need someone to talk to. We are here to support you every step of the way. I have great faith in each of you. So, let's make this school year an incredible one, filled with laughter, growth, and wonderful memories. Thank you, and let's make it a fantastic day at Shanti International School! Anoop Kumar Jha PGT (Social Studies)

STUDENTS TALK

Class X

I am studying in Shanti International School. It has been 5 years of experience. SIS is the first place where I have learnt new things. It is the place where new friends are made and those friendships sometimes are carried on throughout life. This school help in learning new things which helps in the growth of a student. My school was complete package that taught me the importance of self-discipline in life. The teaching and non-teaching staff at my school are very polite, they are always ready to help students. I have learnt many things throughout the years because every year science competitions are held that aims at improving the public speaking and the presentation skill at my school. I love attending my school and it's like my second home. SIS is a place where people from different backgrounds and temperaments come together with the purpose to learn. It offers magic in the form of experiments in laboratories, sports in the field, creativity in the art room and more. My school is a part of who I am and it'll always remain the same for my entire life.
